An Agricultural Institute meeting was held in the Masonic hall here last night. Messrs. T. N. ## AN OPEN LETTER

To the Builders of Edmonton District.

Gentlemen: No doubt you have heard and read in the papers recently a great deal about the so-called "LUMBER COMBINE."

and the consequent advance of prices. In this connection a few statements of fact from us may be in order.

The manufacturers of British Columbia advise us that the advance in prices is due to the increased cost of labor and of materials and that this justifies the advanced prices to the trade. Whether this is true or not we are not in a position to judge.

But we do know that it is very difficult to get orders for B. C. lumber filled with any degree of promptness. Many of the mills are sold out of stock and cannot at present ship a car. We therefore claim that the advanced prices is due to scarcity of lumber. The price of any commodity is regulated in our day not so much by the cost of production as by the general demand for the commodity.

As to our own prices we beg to say that we are careful to see that they bear a right relation to cost. We cannot help the rise in B. C. lumber because the cost price is considerably advanced. But in the line of our own manufacture such as Windows, Doors, Frames, etc., our prices are lower than the prices for the same articles either in British Columbia or Manitoba. This will indicate to you our position in this matter.

In view of the scarcity referred to by you are building or intend to do so, we advise you to place your order with us as soon as possible so that we may get in a position to fill it when required. We promise to do the very best for our customers that circumstances will permit.

Very Truly Yours,

THE FUTURE OF CANADA

Portland, U. S. A., Oregonian.—Lord Dundonald, the military representative of Great Britain in the Dominion, is anxious to increase the war strength of the Canadian militia to 100,000 men. He wants Canada to spend $12,000,000 in fortifying Canada against the United States. But the Canadian people are more likely to spend that money in developing the resources of the Dominion, than to fortify the border against a nation which is sure not to be an enemy unless Great Britain goes to war with the United States, an event which is outside of all present or future possibilities.

There was a time when the separation of Canada from the Mother Country and its peaceful annexation to the United States were considered probable by both English and American observers. In 1849, James Russell Lowell, in a magazine article, argued that the annexation of British North America to the United States was manifest destiny. And this prediction might have come true but for our own folly when in 1865 we abrogated the reciprocity treaty of 1854. Our only reason for its repeal was the bad blood excited between the United States and Canada because during the Civil War Canada had shown strong sympathy with the Southern Confederacy and had become an asylum for its agents and military coadjutors.

Senator Justin S. Morrill, led in 1865 a successful movement for the repeal of the reciprocity treaty of 1854 and the next year the Dominion was organized and started on its career as a distinct nationality. John Charlton, the Canadian statesman, recently said that "reciprocity thirty years ago would have been a working force in the direction of political union of the most powerful character," but in our intemperate resentment we repealed the reciprocity treaty and threw Canada back upon Great Britain and its own resources for that day the Canadian mood for annexation began to die and is now dead beyond hope of any resurrection. The treaty between Canada of 1854, when reciprocity was negotiated by Lord Elgin, the Governor General of Canada, with the United States, was the Dominion of today, is now dead because it shows that Canada was feeble then, while today she is developing so rapidly that she is likely one day to become a powerful rival of this country.

Canada was at that time a land of enormous area but small population, limited to the provinces of Upper and Lower Canada, now corresponding to Ontario and Quebec. The reciprocity treaty of 1854 was a good thing for Canada, but the balance of trade was distinctly in favor of the United States during almost the entire life of the treaty. The movement to repeal it came entirely from the United States. The repeal of this reciprocity treaty was disapproved by the Chicago Board of Trade by the Milwaukee Chamber of Commerce, by the Board of Trade of Boston and by the Detroit Board of Trade. From that day to this Canada has been defeated in all her efforts to renew reciprocal trade relations with the United States. In 1874 a treaty of reciprocity with Canada was promptly rejected by the Senate of the United States. In 1891 the Canadian proposals for reciprocity were rejected by Secretary Blaine unless they could be placed on the basis of discriminating duties against other countries and a customs tariff against the world. A section of our government, coupled with the Liberal party of Canada, opposed reciprocity as the chief plank in its platform, and when the Liberal came into power in 1896 it endeavored to have reciprocity between Canada and the United States a foremost subject of discussion before the Joint High Commission, but the American Commissioners practically refused to consider the question of commercial reciprocity between the two countries. From this date the Liberal government decided that reciprocity with the United States was an impossibility and prepared to develop the country in other directions and with a result exceedingly satisfactory to the Canadian people.

The total volume of trade in Canada in 1896 amounted to $239,025,360; in 1907 it reached $381,517,000; for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1908, it had reached $423,940,441. That is, in proportion to population, the volume of trade of Canada is vastly greater than that of the United States. In 1903 the trade of Canada represented $71 per head of its population, while in the same year in the United States it represented $29.76 per head. In the face of these figures, the Canadian people have naturally decided to make no further efforts to secure reciprocity with the United States. Canada will no longer go to Washington begging for reciprocity; the advances will have to be made by the United States. The United States lost its golden opportunity to educate Canada into a mood for annexation when it repealed the reciprocity treaty of 1854. It has refused all proposals looking toward reciprocal trade relations with Canada from 1860 to 1896, and now Canada has reached a condition of present prosperity and excellent outlook for the future, so that she will henceforth ask nobody to help paddle her own canoe. Canada is destined to be a great nation in wealth and population.

VAGREVILLE

Mr. Eugene Pelletier one of our village neighbors is busily employed in erecting a commodious barn and stable on his property south of his present residence.

Messrs. Empey Bros. of Stony Plain, passed through Vegreville on Saturday of last week. They were on their way to their homesteads in the Birch Lake country. Owing to the recent storm, Messrs. Empey report, like many others, a very stormy passage. On Tuesday of this week, Mr. Blais, an incoming settler from Montreal, was suddenly seized with an epileptic attack and life was almost despaired of. Our worthy doctor was immediately summoned and Mr. Blais improved rapidly. We wish him complete recovery.

Ducks appeared last week. They disappeared almost as suddenly as a spent shot could warn them of their environments.

Wheeling, which was quite fashionable last week, was snowed under during our three day's storm of Friday, Saturday and Sunday last. Incoming settlers were delayed all along the trail owing to the roads being almost impassable. On Sunday afternoon Ray R. S. Longley, Methodist missionary here, was unable to get more than a half mile from the village on the Spring Creek trail and consequently had to return. However at the time of writing, winter is fast going out of business while young spring is busily engaged in his customary floating trade.

The two bridges recently erected across Birch Creek in our immediate neighborhood are somewhat like islands, "things with water all around them." Unfrozen earth is somewhat too distant from the surface to be contained for grading purposes.

Mr. Hawthorne has completed his boarding house and has recently moved into it with his family. Travelers of all kinds will find accommodation in the village strictly up-to-date in every particular. We hope in the near future to be able to publish in these columns the names of all guests.

The Fairwood school district at Spring Creek have let the contract for their new and commodious school building if a teacher can be secured they hope to open school some time in June.

April 16th.

THE WEATHER.

The weather has been fairly unbroken the last two weeks, up to Wednesday of this week. The ice on the river has melted very considerably although it showed no signs of going out until Tuesday when it broke up in places. It started to move Wednesday and then jammed at the bend of the river near Fraser's mill. Yesterday morning's rain set the ice in motion again and it moved freely all yesterday afternoon. As seen by the appended table, four times in the last four years has the ice been so late in going out as this year.

The following table gives the date of the going out of the ice each year since 1889.

W. H. HOOPER COMPANY

OFFERS ON

MONDAY, MAY 4TH, 1903,

200 LOTS

ON

50 X 150

Kenneth Macdonald Flats

The Finest Alluvial Soil on Earth.

On each Lot enough may be grown to support a family,
The property adjoins Little's brick yard on the South, the Experimental Farm on the North, and overlooks the Saskatchewan on the East.

The opposite bank of the river, rising in natural terraces from the water's edge to an average height of 150 feet, beautifully wooded, affords A PANORAMA OF HARMONY AND DELIGHT.

Edmonton has passed the experimental stage, and will possess in a few years a metropolitan population.

The Railway Question is settled. The Canadian Pacific, Grand Trunk and Canadian Northern are assured quantities.

A fact not generally known substantiates that Edmonton will be a terminus for some years, is that the carrying capacity of the Canadian Pacific exceeds the Oriental and British Columbian trades combined, and the three great roads mentioned will halt before pushing on to the Pacific, thereby making our city of vastly more importance than it would otherwise have been.

Much of the timber is primeval. The principal streets will be boulevarded, and ancient growth furnish overshade.

Maps and schedules of prices open for inspection at W. H. Hooper Company's Office on May 4, 1903.

Real Estate.

W. H. HOOPER COMPANY,

Edmonton.

WHITFORD.

Spring has apparently come at last. The snow from our recent three day's storm has almost disappeared and now spring seems at hand. The roads have broken up and wagons are in general use.

Mr. Robert Mennie's oldest son has been seriously ill of late. An operation was successfully performed a few days ago by Drs. Lawford and Smith, and we hope to soon hear of the little fellow's recovery.

Mr. P. Linklater brought home a fine carriage and harness from town some time ago.

The hay cry is ceasing as the snow disappears and cattle are able to graze. The long winter's feeding has used up nearly all the hay but this district is more fortunate in that respect than those further east.

Mr. Brennan, of Manawan, has had his home saddened by the death of his infant daughter. Previous to her death she had been ailing for some time and so her death was not altogether unexpected. The community sympathizes with the bereaved parents in their grief.

James Hamilton, who has been ill for many weeks is slowly recovering and we hope to soon see him about again.

The Sunday services are well attended and the interest in Sunday School work, we hope is on the increase.

The day school is progressing favorably. The attendance is fair, considering the spring weather and roads. A weekly literary society has been organized in the school and if successful may enlarge its interest.

Whitford, April 16th, 1903.

THE BEST BREED

From Farmer's Advocate, Winnipeg, April 6, 1903.

It is quite common to hear the question asked as to which is the best breed of cattle, sheep, etc. Many people have an idea that those who are considered authorities on live stock should be able to answer in a few words. This is a great mistake. Men who have given the most study to this subject have concluded that there is really no best breed, but that often greater differences exist between individuals of the same breed than between representatives of a different breed. Of course, in cattle, for example, it must be understood that we have two distinct classes, one for beef and the other for dairy purposes. Of the latter, Holsteins have become noted for a large percentage of milk, Jerseys for a high percentage of butterfat, and Ayrshires for a large amount of udder, that is, a large udder which enters most largely into the composition of cheese. While these general characteristics are peculiar to these breeds, individual Holsteins will be found that give richer milk than some Jerseys, and Jerseys Ayrshires will be found that produce more pounds of milk than Holsteins. Similar comparisons may be made with the beef breeds, with hogs, sheep, and other classes of stock, so that no one can correctly say that there is a "best breed." Persons have "their individual preferences" for certain breeds of types, and success with any of them largely depends upon the intelligence and care with which they are reared or selected and handled.

GIGANTIC REAL ESTATE DEAL

By far the most important real estate sale yet made in Edmonton was completed yesterday by T. A. Stephens, when negotiations with eastern capitalists for the purchase of the Great property reached a settlement and the deal was closed. This property, long held by Malcolm Groat, comprises 900 acres adjoining the town on the west. About thirty acres of this falls in the Saskatchewan Flat and has been for years the picnic ground of Edmonton. The remainder of the property lies high and beautifully situated above the river bank. When Edmonton's street railway service is in operation this will be a very desirable residential location.

Wm. G. Prethaver is the representative of the purchasing capitalists, and directly after the deal was closed he began arrangements with district engineer Driscoll for surveying the property into lots. It will be placed on the market as soon as surveyed. The size of the lots is not yet settled but the survey will coincide with the Hudson's Bay reserve survey. Work will commence immediately in blocking it out.

The exact figures are not made public but the price paid is known to be neighborhood of $100 per acre, netting Mr. Groat about $90,000 for his property. The lots will be offered for sale as soon as plans and maps are prepared.

SUDDEN DEATH IN STRATHCONA.

This morning about ten o'clock, K. Alexander Stewart, an old man boarding at the Farmer's hotel here, dropped dead just outside the back door of the hotel. He had been unwell for some time, suffering from bronchitis, for which he was treated in the public hospital.

He came here from Vancouver last fall and spent part of the winter in Fraser's lumber camps up the river, but came down a month ago on account of illness. He was 65 years of age, of fair complexion, sober, respectable but entirely destitute.

Building Sites on the verge of the hill overlooking the mighty Saskatchewan, the foliage and verdure of whose banks is not exceeded by the fiercest tropics or softest Pacific scenes, abound. ## THE BINDER TWINE OUTLOOK.

Nor-west Farmer.

The manufacturers allege that their equipments and the skill of their employees are all of the best and up-to-date quality, but they are fighting against unfair conditions. The U. S. government has put on an export duty of $7.50 per ton against all foreign purchasers of Manila fibre in favor of U. S. users of that fibre. For that and other reasons the manufacturers call for an import duty of 12 1/2 per cent. against the twine made in the States, with this special advantage, and sold here duty free. In opposition to their contentions it is claimed that there is not more than about 12 1/2 per cent. of Manila in the twine imported here from the States. All the rest of it is sisal, a fibre grown in Mexico, exported duty free, and which our manufacturers can buy on exactly the same terms as the men who they say are now ruining them by unfair competition. Sometimes New Zealand flax is used, but over that also the American government has no control.

It will thus be seen that the actual advantage enjoyed by the American maker of binder twine from the discriminating duty on his raw material is not, as this memorial seeks to prove, $7.50 per ton of twine manufactured. It is probably less than $1 a ton, yet if we reckon the import value of American twine at 8c. per lb., we will find that the advantage being sought for in making a 12 1/2 per cent. duty is $20 per ton, or if we reckon it at 10c. per lb. it is $25 per ton.

Another great point always brought forward is that our harvest being the latest on the continent, Manitoba has made a slaughter market for all the remainder left over from U. S. consumption. This plea has a pretty solid look, but there is nothing whatever in it. The American makers have general agents all the way from Texas to Winnipeg, who report to headquarters their views about the possible requirements for the season. These reports are sent in at the beginning of the making season, and if warehouse space were now available, the bulk of the supply reckoned for Winnipeg distribution could and would be delivered here before this year's crop is sown. No great concern could be run on the lines indicated in this plea of the Canadian manufacturers. Most of the twine reckoned on for all of this continent is made several months in advance and chances are taken on its being wanted. Such being the fact, this plea must go to the wall.

Just one point more. The petitioners say that if they are driven out of the field, the Americans will be "sometime and charge" for the twine required ed by Canadian farmers any price they choose to fix. It is a singular fact, that the same plea is and was made on behalf of the farmers' binder twine factories against the Canadian binder twine combine. One of the strongest arguments advanced by the free-traders at the time the import duties were repealed was that the combine had bought up or crushed all the small competing concerns, and was following the very same tactics which these Canadian manufacturers now, by anticipation, denounce when practised by their American rivals.

We see no necessity for further analysis of the plea put forth by the Canadian manufacturers for a re-imposition of import duties. Such pleas can only influence people unacquainted with the real facts of the case. We would gladly see every round of the binder twine we need made in Canadian factories. If, as they say, their equipment is up-to-date and their employees fully capable, there must be something defective in their business methods to explain their want of faith in their business future, and judging from their past experience, our farmers have no more to dread from American binder twine combinations than they suffered from the Canadian combine of which these manufacturers are the living embodiment.

Those eastern binder twine manufacturers are remarkably shrewd men. There are now a good many hundreds of farmers who hold a share or two in farmers' twine factories. The word has been passed around among these men to approach their representatives at Ottawa in favor of the proposed duty. When in a day or two this matter comes up for discussion in the House every such man will be put forward as an eager supporter. The thousands who hold no such shares know nothing about all this canning work and will never be heard from. It becomes, therefore, the duty of every farmers' institute and grain growers' association to speak out without one hour's delay. In a week it may be too late.
